dominant lithology
- highly burrowed (Plauchter, Teichking)
- chert/olive brown to slightly yellowish brown MARL

minor lithology
- light greenish gray halo around dark patches of ash (remnants of ash) -> distinctive peculiar transformation [not seen in previous core]
- vitric ash according to smear slide in section 3

These data are to be processed into a computerized database along with existing standardized data from other legs and will be accessible to the scientific community at large. RECORD ALL MEASUREMENTS CAREFULLY, COMPLETELY, AND LEGIBLY.