The image contains a diagram with labeled sections and handwritten notes. The notes appear to describe a core sample analysis, mentioning colors and undisturbed layers. The diagram includes measurements and sections labeled with numbers and colors. The handwritten text includes terms like "undisturbed," "light and dark colors," and "transitional." The diagram is part of a larger scientific document, possibly related to sedimentary rock analysis or core sampling for geological studies.