IODP Physical Examination Policy and Procedures for Employees

The purpose of the International Ocean Discovery Program (IODP) physical exam requirement is to protect the health and safety of all employees and to minimize interference with successful completion of the scientific objectives of each expedition. Physical examination results will determine eligibility for employment and/or expedition participation.

All persons offered employment in seagoing positions are required to complete a comprehensive physical examination by a licensed physician according to the terms detailed in the following pages. Furthermore, IODP may require specific medical or psychological tests and/or evaluations of employees at any time medical conditions warrant. IODP also strongly recommends routine dental exams.

For all IODP physical exams, all completed materials are to be submitted to IODP Human Resources, who will review the documents for completeness and the physician's recommendation. The final decision to allow an employee to sail rests with IODP/JRSO management.

IODP maintains protocols to ensure the security and confidentiality of your personal information. Your information is limited to those who need it to evaluate your physical/mental health. IODP is committed to using protected health information (PHI) about you responsibly. The Notice of Privacy Practices describes how medical information about you may be used and disclosed and how you can access this information online:

General Health Considerations

Medical History

Employees must complete the IODP Medical History Questionnaire for Employees. The IODP Employee Physical Examination Packet lists all medical tests required as part of the physical exam. If an employee is unable to provide a medical record evidencing blood type or immunizations, then blood typing and immunizations will be completed as part of the exam. Employees are responsible for reporting any serious illness or injury, physical and/or emotional, that is overlooked during the medical examination or that develops after the exam and prior to boarding the ship. In such a situation, a follow up medical evaluation may be necessary to determine fitness for sea duty.

Immunizations

Prior to each expedition, IODP Human Resources will obtain current information on immunizations needed for ports or areas of operations. This information will be found in the packet specific to each expedition. Employees will be responsible for discussing with their physician all immunization requirements and/or changes for ports or areas of operation. Proof of updated immunizations will need to be provided to HR with each annual/biennial medical submission, as applicable.

Medical Supplies

Medical supplies and medication on board the drillship are limited. Each employee is responsible for bringing an adequate supply of medication or medical supplies for treating an existing condition for the duration of an expedition.

Sea/Motion Sickness

Each employee should discuss the possibility of sea/motion sickness with their physician. The physician may be able to provide information and/or prescribe medications to prevent or control the symptoms. Employees with concerns about sea/motion sickness should also discuss their situation with the ship's physician as soon as possible after boarding.

Pregnancy

If an employee suspects they are pregnant, they are required to see a licensed obstetrician/gynecologist. An employee who is pregnant must provide their obstetrician/gynecologist with a written job description for the employee's position and obtain a certification from the obstetrician/gynecologist that states the employee is capable of performing their duties and explaining any physical restrictions or limitations. This information is required to determine whether the employee is eligible to sail on the specified expedition.

Allergies

To minimize the occurrence of an allergy problem that may arise during an expedition, each employee is asked to bring non-perfumed, non-allergenic hygiene products on the ship.

---

Cabins

While on board, employees must share a cabin.

Regular Seagoing Positions

Employees in regular seagoing positions are required to pass a physical exam at least once per year or more often if medical conditions warrant. Regular seagoing positions are those which require working at sea on a rotating basis of 2 months at sea and 2–4 months onshore (approximately 4 to 6 months at sea each year, depending on the position).

If a regular seagoing employee's physical exam expires while the employee is at sea, the employee will be required to successfully complete the IODP physical exam prior to participation in a subsequent expedition. If an employee's physical exam expires any time before an upcoming expedition, the employee is required to provide an updated physical.

Failure to pass the IODP physical exam will result in the employee's restriction from participation in the scheduled expedition and will result in evaluation of continued employment.

Positions Requiring Occasional Sea Duty

Employees in positions which may require occasional sea duty must pass the IODP physical exam prior to sailing (but not more than once every 12 months) unless medical conditions warrant additional testing. Failure to pass the IODP physical exam will result in the employee's restriction from participation in the scheduled expedition.

Responsibility for Exam Expense

The cost of the IODP physical exam, up to $400, the maximum amount established for IODP physical exams, will be paid for by IODP. Health insurance should always be presented at time of services rendered.

The cost of required immunizations will be paid for by IODP. If required immunizations result in a total exam cost that exceeds $400, the cost of required immunizations will be paid for by IODP. Required immunizations are defined as those required to enter the country of operation. If the employee has not received a required immunization or has an expired immunization, then the injections will be given as part of the IODP physical exam.

If additional testing is required by the examining physician in order to decide the employee's health status after any of the initial tests listed are inconclusive, those additional tests must be preapproved by IODP. This also includes any psychological testing or evaluations the examining physician might require to make a determination of being fit to sail.

In the event IODP requests any additional tests after the examining physician has determined the employee is fit to sail, these costs will be paid for by IODP. The cost of any treatment that may be required because of a medical or psychological condition will be paid by the employee.

Wellness Exams

The IODP HR department cannot ensure that the seagoing annual exam will be applied as a TAMU Wellness Incentive physical. Employees who use their private primary care physician (PCP) for completion of/compliance with the seagoing annual exam are encouraged to speak to their PCP regarding this matter. Those employees who use the IODP St. Joseph program are encouraged to make a separate appointment with their PCP to complete an annual TAMU wellness exam.

If you have any questions, see IODP HR.

IODP New Employee Physical Examination Policy

All job offers for seagoing positions will be contingent upon the new employee passing the IODP Employee Physical Exam. The exam must be given by a licensed physician; IODP reserves the right to request a second opinion from another physician. New employees are encouraged to first consult with IODP Human Resources regarding the various tests so as to avoid unnecessary out-of-pocket expenses that might result from the physical exam.

The exam should be scheduled, completed, and returned to IODP Human Resources prior to the new employee's first day of work. IODP has the option to request additional medical information or tests that may be taken into consideration if appropriate.

IODP Human Resources will inform the hiring supervisor and the prospective employee as to whether the individual has successfully completed all the physical exam requirements and is eligible for sea duty participation.

Responsibility for Exam Expense

IODP will reimburse the new employee up to the maximum amount established for the cost of the physical exam providing

1. The examination is performed according to IODP requirements.
2. The new employee passes the exam.

Any cost above $400 will be paid for by the new employee. However, if required immunizations result in a total exam cost that exceeds $400, the cost of required immunizations will be paid for by IODP. In addition, charges for procedures not required by IODP will be paid for by the new employee. If an employee does not pass the physical exam and pursues further testing/treatment to pass, the employee will be responsible for the expense of these tests or treatment. If the employee fails the physical exam, the total cost of the exam will be paid for by the employee. The hiring supervisor will inform the new employee of this expense responsibility. The employment offer may be withdrawn from a new employee who fails the physical exam.

Employees seeking reimbursement must fill out the IODP Physical Examination Reimbursement Form.

Medical History Records

All employees are required to provide copies of medical history records for immunizations and blood type. If no records are provided or records are incomplete, immunizations and blood typing will be done as part of the employee exam. IODP will cover the costs of these procedures.

Information for the Examining Physician

The enclosed medical exam is required for participation on a research expedition aboard the research vessel JOIDES Resolution. The purpose of this examination is to protect the health and safety of this individual, their fellow co-workers, and the scientific objectives of the expedition.

Although a licensed M.D. accompanies all expeditions, medical facilities on board are limited. Medical evacuation (medivac) by helicopter or alternate vessel is only available within a certain distance from a port, and the research vessel most commonly operates outside of this distance. In the event of an emergency, 5 or more days' travel by sea are commonly required to reach port. Escape during an emergency may require navigating several flights of stairs and watertight doors.

Please bear this in mind as you evaluate your patient's ability to withstand 8 weeks at sea working 12 hours a day, 7 days a week, in close quarters with other shipboard participants.

This packet includes the medical exam requirements for the IODP Physical Examination, information regarding the physical requirements of the expedition, and the following forms for you to complete:

- IODP Employee Physical Examination Form (page 16-17)
- Certification of Eligibility (page 18)
- Mental Health Treatment Disclosure; if applicable (page 20)
- Covid-19 Assessment (page 21)

In addition, please attach the laboratory results for the following tests:

- Complete blood count
  - Blood typing; if applicable
- Blood chemistry profile
- Audiogram
- HgbA1C for those with diabetes
- TB skin/TB QuantiFERON® blood test; if applicable
- Chest X-rays (PA and Lateral); if applicable
- Bruce Protocol Stress Test; if applicable

Please provide all of the above materials to the employee, who will return them to IODP Human Resources.

Please submit the completed packet to:

COVID-19 Assessment

Additional Physician Assessment For IODP Employees

The purpose of this form is to assess the COVID-19 risk of those who seek to work on the Research Vessel JOIDES Resolution. The ship has a medical doctor and facilities for treating many injuries and illnesses but it does not have the hospital healthcare level capabilities commonly required for treating severely ill COVID-19 patients. If a patient becomes sick with COVID-19 while at sea and requires advanced life-saving intervention, the ship will be diverted to the nearest port where the patient will be evacuated to a hospital. However, if the patient becomes severely ill with COVID-19, the additional time required to reach a hospital could result in death. Hence, it is important to identify those with high risk factors and make informed decisions regarding participation.

In light of this information, the risk assessment should carefully consider the patient’s medical history, current medical condition, vaccine/booster status, and the guidelines provided by the Centers for Disease Control and Protection (CDC) for people who are at higher risk for severe illness from COVID-19. See the box below or go to the CDC source: <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/need-extra-precautions/index.html> and <https://www.cdc.gov/mmwr/volumes/71/wr/mm7101a4.htm>

People Who Are at Higher Risk for Severe Illness

Based on currently available information, older adults and people of any age who have serious underlying medical conditions might be at higher risk for severe illness from COVID-19. For all ages, higher risks are associated for with the following underlying medical conditions, particularly if not well controlled:

- People with chronic lung, kidney, liver, or neurologic disease
- People who have serious heart conditions
- People who are immunocompromised
- People with overweight to obese
- People with diabetes
- People with cancer

Based on the physician’s assessment:

- The patient has a significant risk factor or multiple risk factors that would be considered high risk.
- The patient does not have high risk factors.
